Ike Asks Foreign Aid Help From Businessmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today appealed to the nation's businessmen to spread the gospel of mutual aid among the free nations to prevent what he called the catastrophe of Soviet domination.

Eisenhower addressed 4,000 businessmen and their guests at the opening of the 47th annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He told them the country has no choice but to push the foreign aid program, for which he has asked $3,000,000,000 in the year ending July 1.

"Isolation for America is a futile and fatal policy," he declared in a 15-minute talk. "The interests of the free world are the interests of America."

Eisenhower said every detection of an uncommitted country to the Communists adds new resources to the Soviet cause and subtracts strength from the free world.

"If this were to continue, the result would be catastrophic," he declared.

"As long as the Communists pursue their basic goal on broad and diverse fronts, we have no choice but to meet their challenge wherever and however it is presented."

The chamber heard a keynote address by President Eisenhower.

Like Asks Foreign Aid Help From Businessmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said today he hopes the House will "strengthen" the labor regulation bill passed by the Senate.

Earlier, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief sponsor of the measure, told a reporter he did not see how President Eisenhower could decline to approve the bill even though it omits some administration recommendations.

Mitchell, talking with newsmen at the Capitol where he testified on his department's appropriations measure, said his agency had not yet completed its detailed analysis of the bill as passed by the Senate on late Saturday.

"I generally still believe the administration's proposals would strengthen the bill, and I am hopeful the House will seek to improve it to that end," he said.

Mitchell mentioned limits on secondary boycotts and a ban on organizational picketing as two points included in the administration measure which he felt were not covered adequately in the Kennedy bill.

The administration also wants to let state agencies handle labor cases in which the National Labor Relations Board refuses to take jurisdiction. There is no time now to handle such cases.

Kennedy, author of the bill, resisted strong efforts in the nine days of Senate floor debate to write all three of the points into the bill. He contended that they either were unworkable or would harm legitimate union interests.

Kennedy said he was confident the measure would be recognized as a strong, effective measure to clean up many abuses in unions.

"The Senate finally did accept a compromise section aimed at some organizational picketing, but in a much less drastic form than the administration's proposal," he said.

There has been no holding hearings on similar legislation, but it is not expected to act on it before June or July.

Traditionally, the House has been apt to write somewhat stronger labor legislation than the Senate. But this year, backers of the Kennedy bill in the House contend they have the votes to put it through in much the same shape as the Senate version.

Last year the House killed the Kennedy-Ives bill, which was quite similar to the present measure. But it did not get to act until the closing days of the session and then only under procedure which ruled out any floor amendments.

The 90-1 Senate tally complied with an 80-1 passage vote for the Kennedy-Ives bill last year.

Ike, Herter Disappointed by Coolness

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter were pictured as disappointed today by Moscow's coolness toward the U. S. proposal for a first stage ban on testing of nuclear weapons.

The White House said they are hopeful the Kremlin will reconsider.

The views of the President and the secretary were relayed to newsmen by press secretary James C. Hagerty as Eisenhower and Herter conferred at the White House.

"The conference concerned among other things the Western foreign ministers meeting Herter will attend in Paris starting Wednesday," Hagerty said.

Herter also discussed the letter relayed over the weekend from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. It was in reply to an April 13 Eisenhower message urging that the Soviet Union agree to an immediate ban on all nuclear weapons.

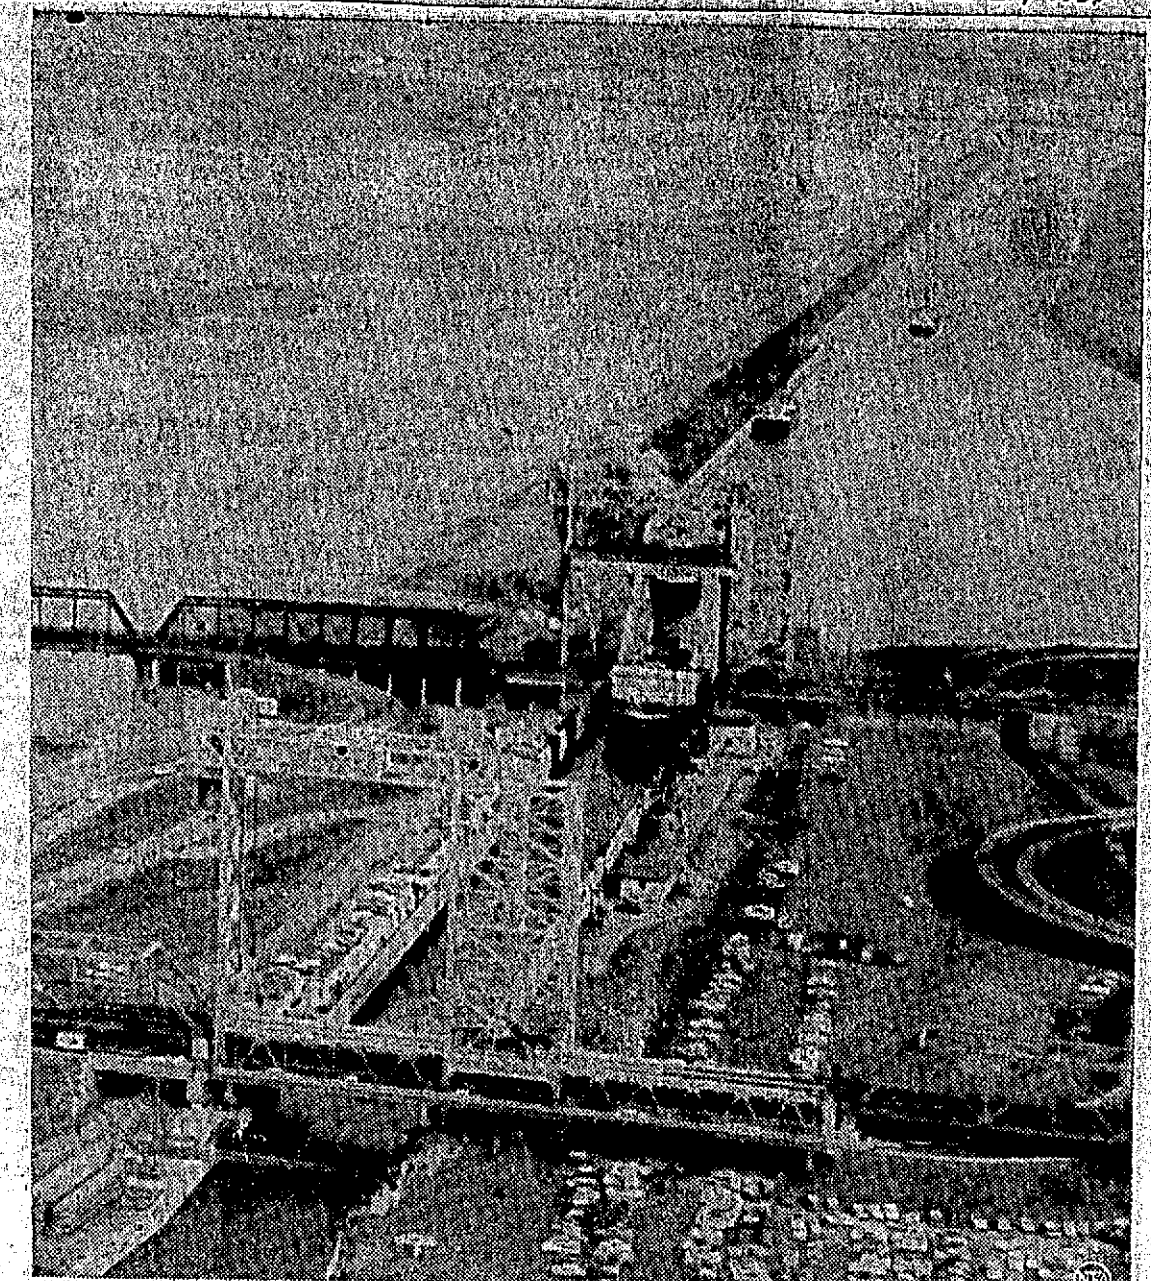

Eisenhower suggested such a first stage agreement would allow world wide fear regarding radio-active fallout.

The President's letter was an effort to scotch a long deadlock in Geneva negotiations for a ban, with an inspection system, on nuclear tests.

Khrushchev did not specifically reject the Eisenhower proposal. But he did say it offered no solid basis and added in effect that the United States does not want a complete test ban.

Hagerty said Eisenhower and Herter are "disappointed" that Khrushchev has not been willing to take the practical and immediate feasible measure of an immediate test suspension proposed in the President's letter of April 13.

"Contrary to the impression given in Mr. Khrushchev's letter, the United States does want a complete test ban," Hagerty added.

No Sign of Lynch Victim Is Found

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A Circuit Court judge said today the kidnapping of a Negro prisoner charged with raping a pregnant white woman has opened the flood gates of hate and hell on the people of Mississippi.

Judge Scho Dale was to have presided at today's scheduled trial of Mack Charles Parker, 23-year-old truck driver, dragged from his jail cell at the Pearl River County Jail early Saturday.

Pros. Atty. William Stewart asked for a continuance of the trial because "we have no defendant."

Parker and his abductors were objects of a two-state search led by special teams of FBI agents.

"A fair trial has been denied this man," Judge Dale said. "I believe had he been tried, the record would have brought a kinder feeling toward the people of Mississippi."

"I do not know now what to expect," Dale said, "that laws will be passed against us."

Mississippi had been sinned against, he said, by the action of the raiders in dragging Parker from his jail cell.

About 60 or 70 speculators were on hand when a Methodist minister intoned a prayer upon the Circuit Court's term.

Three Negroes were in the balcony. The first floor was filled with officers and newsmen.

Dale wore a blue suit with a red pocket handkerchief and a red tie, the trademarks of the late Thos. E. Ellis, Mississippi's apostle of white supremacy. Bilbo, called Poplarville home and lies buried just south of town.

The search for Parker and the kidnappers continued through

Panama Claims Closing in on Invasion Force

PANAMA (AP)—Government forces today claimed they were closing in on an invasion force of 80 revolutionists moving along a desolate stretch of Panama's Caribbean coast.

Government Minister Jose D. Bajan said National Guard troops sent to meet the rebel force would demand immediate surrender or face more aggressive measures.

Three members of the landing force were captured by the local guard after a landing Friday night at Playa Colorado (Red Beach), about 60 miles northwest of Panama City. They named Roberto Arias, husband of British ballerina Margot Fonteyn, as their chief.

Arias, ex-ambassador to Britain, claimed to the Brazilian Embassy Friday night after another landing on the Pacific coast and was given asylum.

The prisoners indicated the invasion went awry after their field commander and two others were drowned in the first landing attempt by small boat.

The government gave this account.

An invasion force of 82 hired Cuban and four Panamanians, including a woman, were sent out from the Cuban port of Esquivel April 19. Early reports of the size of the invasion force ranged from 36 to 80.

They landed at Playa Colorado with the aim of launching a Castro-type guerrilla war in the mountains against President Ernesto de la Guardia.

The lone guard in the village of Corregidor, Cpl. Arlano Molinar, organized a posse of villagers and captured three of the invaders.

One of the captives later told newsmen in Panama City that Arias had given him four thousand dollars to take to Havana to help finance the expedition.

Thinks Russia Will Bow to West Plan

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary John Selwyn Lloyd said today he believes the Soviet Union eventually will bow to Western insistence on a light inspection system to assure compliance with any ban on nuclear weapons tests.

"The Russians still seem to hanker after self-inspection, which we cannot accept," Lloyd told the House of Commons.

"I believe in due course we shall get agreement on the composition of both test controls and inspection teams and their facilities."

Lloyd said there seems at least a chance that the Soviet Union will accept Prime Minister Macmillan's suggestion that each side should have the right to a limited number of inspections each year.

Delay in Tax Case of Former Official

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Trial of Mrs. Lessie Williams Hamilton, former Boone Circuit and county clerk on income tax evasion charges, has been postponed in U. S. District Court here.

She was scheduled to go on trial today but a court attache said a delay was necessary because another trial is underway before Judge J. Smith Henley.

The latter trial concerns charges of income tax evasion against George H. Florida, wealthy Osceola businessman.

Mrs. Hamilton is accused of failing to file federal income tax returns for 1954-56 inclusive. She has pleaded innocent.

The court attache said no new date for her trial had been set. The Boone County Grand Jury is scheduled to meet at Harrison tomorrow to investigate reported shortages in the 1958 accounts of Mrs. Hamilton and former tax collector Paul Young.

Mrs. Hamilton was defeated last year for another term as circuit and county clerk. Young re-elected after five terms as collector.

China Gets a New President, Mao Still Top

By JOHN ROBERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Liu Shao-chi, hatched-faced theoretician of the Communist party, moved up today to the presidency of Red China, replacing radio-called Lin Biao, second only to Mao Tse-tung.

Chou En-lai was re-named premier.

Mao relinquished the presidency to free himself for his more important duties as chairman of the Chinese Communist party. Choice of Liu, a 61-year-old Hunanese, strengthened his position as Mao's heir-apparent.

Peiping radio indicated, however, that Liu was not unopposed early this month when the party command chose him to be chairman—or president—of the government, which under Mao had been a largely ceremonial post. It said that he "had the support of a large segment of party members," suggesting the choice was not unannounced.

This opinion was announced from the bench when the court met for its regular weekly session. It was written by Associate Justice Paul Ward, who was joined by Chief Justice Carlton Harris and Associate Justices Sam Robinson and Jim Johnson in upholding validity of the school closing law.

Harris and Robinson wrote concurring opinions. This means that they agreed the act, but reached their opinions by legal reasoning different from that contained in the Ward ruling.

Associate Justices J. S. Hall, Ed F. McFadden and George Rose Smith dissented.

Justices Hand Down a Split Decision

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld Gov. Orval D. Faubus' school closing law.

A divided court ruled constitutional the Faubus-sponsored legislation not under which the governor has kept the Little Rock public high schools closed against federally approved integration since last September.

A similar constitutional question is to be considered by a three-judge federal court here in a week from today.

The majority opinion quoted a considerable length from the U. S. Supreme Court decisions against school segregation.

The state court noted that the U. S. Supreme Court said that implementation of its decisions would depend on local conditions. "We have set out the above because it appears that they delineate the only sphere of judicial discretion left to us," the opinion said.

The court said "two deeply deplored facts" that the U. S. Supreme Court did not follow earlier legal opinions validating "separate but equal" school facilities.

In holding that the law does not violate the federal Constitution, the majority said "we feel that the issue before us falls within a sphere which allows this court some judicial discretion. That sphere is the application of the police powers of the state to the implementation of the U. S. Supreme Court decisions."

The opinion said also that the act does not "necessarily violate the state constitution, which has a provision requiring operation of free public schools."

The word "necessarily" was stressed, the opinion explaining that "it is a well-established principle of law that an act of the Legislature which is constitutional on its face may become unconstitutional in its operation or under changed conditions."

"From a strictly constitutional standpoint," the opinion said, "the Legislature has the same right to authorize the governor to make change of schools as it has always exercised to authorize school boards to do so."

This opinion was announced from the bench when the court met for its regular weekly session. It was written by Associate Justice Paul Ward, who was joined by Chief Justice Carlton Harris and Associate Justices Sam Robinson and Jim Johnson in upholding validity of the school closing law.

Harris and Robinson wrote concurring opinions. This means that they agreed the act, but reached their opinions by legal reasoning different from that contained in the Ward ruling.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Pays High Price for Giving Love Free

Dear Dorothy Dix: I know you've encountered similar situations countless times but please try to help me. Some time ago I met a friend with whom I had lost touch. He is a widower and, after we had resumed our friendship, he said he'd like to marry me but wouldn't be ready for another year as he had some responsibilities to take care of. We settled down to steady dating, including several weekends together. I fell completely in love with him and was sure he felt the same about me. Soon I noticed a change in him. He became critical of me even to the extent of saying I was too easy. He went to another city on business, stayed several weeks, and came back—married to another woman. I realize how foolish I was but cannot regain my peace of mind. Can you give me any word to help me get back my faith in human nature?—MARY-LIN

Dear Marylin: Put your faith in God and church instead of in man and columnists. Take your troubles to your clergyman who will show you the way back to things you can believe in. Nothing is as empty as the promises of a man who wants love without responsibilities. That's the most expensive kind of love for you but it's quite worthless to him. You've learned your lesson, now stop thinking in terms of "human love" and try "divine love." It pays off.

Dear Dorothy Dix: During the Christmas holidays I met a boy who said he liked me very much. I haven't seen or heard from him since. If we should meet accidentally, should I speak to him, or ignore him?—FRAN

Dear Fran: Speak to him, of course. Act pleased to see him, show that you're very glad to meet him again, and hope you'll see him around. Ignoring him, or being angry, is a very childish thing to do. You're growing up, remember?

no matter how fleeting the latter may be. It's better to know many boys, than to concentrate on one. Be different! Stick up for playing the field.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

See Trouble Over Berlin During May

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said today that the free world may still expect trouble around Berlin May 27. That was the deadline originally set by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for ending the postwar agreement on control of the former German capital.

Brucker cautioned the Soviets that "anyone who fails to heed or misconstrues" President Eisenhower's declaration that the United States will not yield to force or threats in the German crisis "is in for a terrific shock."

He made his remarks in an airport news conference upon his return from 19 days in Europe. Brucker termed a "master stroke" the sending of a C-130 cargo plane into Berlin earlier this month at a higher altitude than the flying level of older craft normally used in supplying the divided city.

Brucker said he assumes Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy sent the C-130 into Berlin to dem-

Dodgers in First Place at Expense of the Cardinals

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Now all bench-warming Duke Snider has to do is give Los Angeles a "play me or trade me" ultimatum and the Dodgers may make first place in the National League their permanent home.

The Dodgers took over the top rung Sunday by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals in a football score, 17-11, while Cincinnati was edging the Milwaukee Braves in a pitchers' duel—14 of 'em—11-10.

Charlie Neil had a perfect 5-for-5 and Gil Hodges drove in five runs but another pair of Dodgers—Carl Furillo and Don Zimmer—knocked in six between them.

You may remember that Zimmer, thinking he was being side-tracked for the regular shortstop berth at the start of the season, asked the Dodgers to play him or trade him. His three-run homer Sunday featured a five-run third inning that routed starter Vihgar Bend Mizell.

Only last week Furillo, linked at being benched, made a similar demand. Returned to action Sunday, he whacked four hits and bled three runs to assure Eddie Carnahan Snider of his first major league triumph.

The veteran Snider, who has been the bell-cow in past Dodger pennant drives, has been sitting on the bench with Don Demeter taking over his center field position.

The San Francisco Giants climbed into a virtual tie with Milwaukee for second place, a half game behind the Dodgers, by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 3-2.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia split a doubleheader, the Pirates winning the opener 9-2 and the Phils taking the second 10-5.

Chicago seemed to within a game of American League leader Cleveland by sweeping a twin bill from the Indians 6-3 and 5-2.

Baltimore remained in a second place tie with the White Sox, whipping the New York Yankees twice, 5-4 and 3-2. Washington nipped Boston 2-1 and Kansas City edged Detroit 4-3. It was the Pirates' sixth straight loss and their 12th in 12 games.

Manager Mayo Smith and his Reds accomplished something no Cincinnati team has been able to do since September, 1936—they beat the Braves for the second straight time. To add to the implausible, the Reds' victim for the second straight day was War Spahn.

Johnny Temple, whose three-run homer caused Spahn's downfall Saturday, again was the brilliant southpaw's nemesis. With the score tied 10-10 in the ninth and Spahn working in relief, Temple doubled for his fourth hit. He moved to third on Vada Pinson's safe bunt and scored the winning run on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly.

Spahn, who owns 51 lifetime victories over the Reds, was the Braves' sixth pitcher. He came in to protect a one-run lead in the seventh but was tagged by Frank Thomas' tying, home run in the eighth. Cincinnati, using eight pitchers with Bob Purkey gaining credit for his third victory. The eight pitchers for one club and the 14 for two equalled league records.

Jack Sanford hurled a four-hitter against the Cubs for his third Giant victory. Jackie Brandt, Willie Mays and Bob Schmidt each collected two hits and drove in a run. Glen Hobbie was the loser.

Dave Philley, subbing at first for the ailing Ed Bouchee, drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a double to help the Phils gain a split with the Pirates. Pittsburgh won the opener with the aid of a six-run third inning against loser Don Cordwell and Jim Hearn. Dick Groat, who drove in five runs with four hits, featured the big uprising by expanding a grand slam homer off Hearn.

Chicago's White Sox stunned Cleveland twice, 6-3 and 5-2, trimming the Indians' first place margin to only one game. Veterans Early Wynn and Billy Pierce were the winning pitchers as the White Sox remained in a second place tie with the Orioles.

Kansas City moved past New York into fourth place with a 4-3 triumph over Detroit's Tigers, who dropped their sixth in a row and their 12th in 13 games. Washington made it two in a row over Boston, winning 2-1 on homers by Roy Sifers and Jim Lemon.

Cincinnati bounced Milwaukee from first place in the National League, outscoring the Braves 14-10 as Los Angeles took over the top rung with a 17-11 victory over St. Louis. San Francisco's Giants climbed into a virtual second place tie with Milwaukee, shading the Chicago Cubs 3-2. Pittsburgh split with Philadelphia, the Pirates winning the opener 9-2 and Philadelphia taking the second, 10-5.

Ninth inning rallies were responsible for both Baltimore victories over New York. Trailing 4-3, the Orioles scored twice in the ninth of the opener. Gene Woodling singled and Chico Carrasquel walked. Pinch hitter Jim Finigan's single scored Woodling with the tying run. Brooks Robinson's single scored Finigan with the winning run.

Whitey Ford, who had taken over in the ninth to protect a one-run lead for the Yankees, was the victim of the assault. Baltimore scored its three other runs in the seventh as singles by pinch hitters Whitely Lockman and Al Pillars set up the scores. The two teams set a major league record by using ten pinch hitters.

Hovi Wilhelm permitted the Yankees only five hits in the nightcap, outpitching Duke Maas. Robinson's leadoff double in the ninth followed by an infield out and Billy Klaus' sacrifice fly, gave the veteran knuckler a defeat. Catcher Gus Triandafylidis was charged with four passed balls, equalling a league mark, trying to handle Wilhelm's butterfly pitch.

Chicago pitchers Wynn and Pierce helped their own cause against Cleveland with important base hits. Wynn doubled home two of his team's six runs in the fifth inning of the opener and they proved to be the decisive tallies. He needed help, however, from Jerry Staley, who hurled four runs, less innings. Pierce allowed the Indians eight hits in the nightcap and got three himself, a triple, double and single. He drove in

Proud Baltimore Makes 4 in Row Over Yankees

By JOE REICHLER

The Baltimore Orioles, their chests expanded by four straight triumphs over the New York Yankees, are only a game out of first place today and Manager Paul Richards can give thanks to his prized pinch hitters.

Four of Richards' emergency batteries came through Sunday to help the Orioles sweep a doubleheader from the Yankees 5-4 and 3-2. The two defeats dropped Casey Stengel's world champs into the second division for the first time in four years.

In 14 games this year Baltimore pinch hitters have contributed 15 hits in 35 official times at bat. That's a .428 batting average. It's not surprising then that the Orioles have won nine and lost only five.

The Chicago White Sox stunned Cleveland twice, 6-3 and 5-2, trimming the Indians' first place margin to only one game. Veterans Early Wynn and Billy Pierce were the winning pitchers as the White Sox remained in a second place tie with the Orioles.

Kansas City moved past New York into fourth place with a 4-3 triumph over Detroit's Tigers, who dropped their sixth in a row and their 12th in 13 games. Washington made it two in a row over Boston, winning 2-1 on homers by Roy Sifers and Jim Lemon.

PRETTY PAGAN—A beauty, in bath, dress, Cuban actress Chelo Alonzo, wears a warrior's costume for her role in a new movie being filmed in Rome. Chelo plays a lovely pagan in "The Terror of the Barbarians."

THE BOUNDERS—Somebody has made off with King Edward VII's sword, though no one is sure how long it's been missing. A schoolboy checked his guidebook, description of the London statue of the king and discovered that the sword was gone. Police are assigned.

CANNONBALL—Human, that is, Hugo Zaccini, 29, follows in the family tradition as man-sized cannon fodder in forthcoming film, "The Big Circus."

Matter of FACT
The earliest needles, made of bone or horn, were really awls, such as a shoemaker now uses. They had no eyes. They were used only to puncture the material. Cords or strips of leather called thongs were then pushed through the holes. Even stone needles have been dug up in the ruins of ancient Egypt. Bronze and iron needles were known to the Romans; numerous well-wrought specimens have been found by explorers in the ruins of Pompeii.

EYEING OUTER SPACE—When the Pentagon recently revealed that the United States had exploded three nuclear devices in space last year (Project Argus), scientists announced that radiation from the bombs spread around the edge of the atmosphere in an hour. How could they tell what went on 300 miles above the earth? Diagrams above give the answer. One means was by instrument-carrying rockets which were fired into the band of radiation to measure the changes in earth's natural radiation envelope. Explorer IV also played a part by sampling nuclear activity. The results? Besides more new knowledge about space immediately above the atmosphere, evidence that high-altitude nuclear explosions are not the answer to stopping enemy missiles, but may create an "electron mirror" to aid radar.

WINDOW ON THE PACIFIC—Despite appearances, this ballroom is in Cincinnati, Ohio—not looking out on Diamond Head on Oahu, Hawaii. Framed like a huge picture window is the largest color photograph in the world, 20 feet high by 80 feet wide. Called the "ultramural," the mammoth print of Diamond Head was made from a negative section measuring 2 by 8 inches shot by Edward Betz of Cincinnati. The picture, printed on 2,550 square feet of photographic paper, was mounted in a Tampa, Fla., airplane hangar.

Jules Pardee came to the horse camp with Bronson and the chuckwagon in mid-afternoon. For the past two hours he had waited expectantly, hoping that this strategy of setting up a field headquarters for his searching crew would be terminated by Veto's arrival with Jim Furlong. It just didn't seem reasonable that 12 men couldn't corral one master. Now as the cook placed his Dutch ovens on a bed of coals in preparation for supper, Pardee scanned the flat landscape and muttered, "Why don't they come yet?"

"Maybe they didn't catch Furlong yet," the big cook suggested. Thereafter, until dusk masked the flats, Empires' owner watched and waited in sullen silence.

It was dark when Cleo Veto led his weary crew into camp. Pardee sat on a bedroll near the fire; he watched his foreman unsaddle, saying nothing until Veto came up and poured himself a cup of coffee. Then Pardee demanded, "How come you didn't catch him?"

"Lost their trail," Veto said flatly.

"Their trail?"

"Mace Gillum is with him," Veto sampled the coffee, then

Porkers Will Concentrate on Offense

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Coach Frank Broyles and his Arkansas Razorbacks will spend this week polishing offense and defense for the Red-White game Saturday night in Little Rock.

A rock-'em, sock-'em scrimmage session last Saturday left the red-headed coach in his best mood of the two-week-old spring training session.

For the record, the Reds beat the Whites 22-15 in Saturday's session, but Broyles wasn't interested in the score.

"I saw a lot of improvement," he said. "The backs were running harder and the linemen knew their assignments."

time to go after him. Furlong has gone Apache on us. He holes up all day while you're hunting him, then does his traveling at night."

"Shouldn't wonder," Veto said he canted his head, listening intently to the sound of an oncoming horse.

Farley Breen got up and moved out of the firelight, fading with a cat-like quickness, and now, as a rider loomed above the nearby brush, Veto called sharply, "Who is there?"

"Me," the blacksmith replied. Halting outside the circle of bedrolls, he announced, "I've got a message for the boss."

"Who from?" Pardee asked.

"Fred Eggleston. He came to the ranch in a buggy, said to tell you that like Rule is at Kimble's place on Mexican Flat?"

"What's he doing there?" Pardee demanded.

"Eggleston said he's wounded."

"So what? him, along with his horse," Veto said. "Turning to Pardee he asked, 'Shall I go after him now?'"

Pardee plucked a burning twig from the fire and held it to his cigar. A man got up and poured himself a second cup of coffee. And for this little interval, Cleo Veto stood waiting with the silent deference of a good servant.

"All right," Pardee muttered. "But not the whole crew. Just you and Breen should be sufficient."

Urging his horse to a lope along the dusty road, Furlong soon overtook a dimly seen wagon and passed it. When he overtook another rig headed in the same direction it occurred to him that this was Sunday night and those farm folks were going to attend prayer meeting at the Mexican Flat schoolhouse. Fred Kimble officiated as minister at those meetings, which his wife and daughter invariably attended.

Furlong would have to wait around for a couple of hours in order to see Grace. And she'd be so full of religion that she might not want to honeyfuss with a law-dodging man.

But presently, riding into the yard, he saw someone move across the kitchen between lamm and window; with a fine sense of anticipation rising in him, Furlong called, "Anybody home?"

Grace came out to the stoop at once. She asked, "Jim?" and as he came into the doorway's shaft of lamplight, asked, "Have you had supper?"

Furlong shook his head; dismounting now he added, "But that's not why I came."

Grace was wearing her Sunday dress, it's spring-fitting bodice accentuating the rounded fullness of the skirt. Her smallness, the cupid's bow shape of her mouth and the clustered curls of her black hair reminded Furlong of the first time he had seen this girl, the impression that she was like a living doll.

Because there was no smile of welcome on her face he asked, "Is like Rule bad?"

"Bad enough," Grace said. She gave him a calculating regard, adding, "You look hungry."

"I am," Furlong said, dolefully contemplating the picture she made framed there in the doorway lamplight. "Hungry for a sight of the prettiest girl in Warrior Basin."

That had its effect, bringing a brief smile to her lips, but she said firmly, "I'll not be sweet-talked out of saying what I think."

Grace stroked, "Tonight is the

Suggests Way to Halt Much Delinquency

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Affection, good food, fresh air and plenty to do. This is Dr. Randle Elliott's prescription for curing ineffectual juvenile delinquency.

Dr. Elliott is executive director of the Greer School, a children's community at Hope Farm, in Dutchess County, N.Y., maintained for orphans and children from broken homes. Young, tweedy and good looking, he is assisted by his equally attractive wife in the supervision of 200 children, aged 6 to 11.

"These children come to us starved in both body and heart," says Dr. Elliott. "A few weeks of nourishing food and loving care usually turn them into healthy, happy, well-behaved youngsters."

Children at Greer school live in eight cottages, each run by a make-believe mother and father. Meals are served family style and everything is planned to simulate, as nearly as possible, normal family life.

Dr. Elliott is a former instructor at Harvard, spent some time with the State Department in Washington, and worked for a time as London correspondent for McGraw-Hill, publisher of books and business magazines. His wife formerly was dean of women at the University of Delaware.

"We have never been happier than during our years at the Greer School," says he. "We have no children of our own, so it's nice to have 200 that are almost like our own. At least we are never lonely."

The Greer School was founded in 1905 at the request of Children's Court judges in New York state to fill a long-felt need.

"Every child gets an allowance of 60 cents a month up to the age of 14," says Dr. Elliott. "After 14 they earn their own money at various assigned duties. If a child commits some degradation such as breaking a window, he must pay for it."

REWARD FOR QUIET
CASPER, Wyo. (P)—Barber Chuck Chaney was surprised when a stranger gave him a quarter bill when he sat down in the barber chair.

"It's hush money," he explained. Chuck cut his hair without conversation.

The Reds and Paul Dudley of the Whites, Red halfback Lance Alworth and White halfback Tommy Bach and Red guard Gerald Gardner and White guard Paul Henderson drew special praise.

Bach scored both White touchdowns. Alberry, Alworth and Gardner, who intercepted a pass, tallied for the Reds.

Bach, Alberry and Alworth, the sophomore sensation, all showed themselves as effective runners.
